

Our M365 Migration Journey

A story of support, adjustment, and finally landing in mafint.org

1

Starting Out

We didn't really know what to expect, and the journey began with curiosity, caution, and a few nervous smiles.

2

A Mix of Emotions

As the migration unfolded, we went through a whole range of emotions, from uncertainty and confusion to patience and perseverance.

3

The Challenging Bit

Even though the migration was smooth overall, working in two different M365 environments at the same time was frustrating. At times it was hard to know what was missing and what was not.

4

Supported All the Way

The migration team was an amazing support throughout the process and helped us navigate the changes with patience and care.

5

Finally There

We are thrilled to finally be in the mafint.org domain and environment, and we can already see how much easier and more efficient global working together will be.

A range of emotions, a lot of learning, and a strong support team behind us.

Meet the Migration Support Team

The epic team behind the scenes who helped the plan come together

1

Our Support Crew

From planning and troubleshooting to patient guidance and problem-solving, this team helped keep the migration moving and made the journey feel much easier.

2

Why They Matter

Their support, calm presence, and willingness to help made a real difference. Behind every smooth transition is a team that keeps the plan on track.

A special thank you to everyone who worked quietly in the background, including those we only met once or may not have met at all. We know this migration took a lot of unseen planning, troubleshooting and support, and we are truly grateful for the part you played in helping everything come together.

A great team makes every good plan come together.
